HOLLINS GIRLS WIN IN STATE MUSIC CONTEST

At the meeting of the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs, held at Charlottesville, Va., the week of April 13th through April 17th, four Hollins music students received honors. Miss Charlotte Patch, who won first place in organ, Mrs. Fred Harvey, of Pulaski, who won first place in piano, and Miss Mary Belle Deaton, who won second place in piano, are all pupils of Mr. Erich Rath. Miss Frances McAfee, who placed third in piano, is a pupil of Mr. Donald Bolger.

The Hollins Chapel Choir also attended the festival, participating in the singing of Schubert's Mass in E Flat as well as contributing several numbers to the Jubilee on Friday afternoon conducted by Mr. Rath.

Miss Patch, as winner of first place in the state contest, will attend the district contest which will be held in Washington, D. C., May 1st and 2d. The winners in the state contests of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will compete and the winner in this district tournament will go to the national contest, which is to be held in San Francisco, in June.

BEN GREET PLAYERS PRESENT "MACBETH"

The Ben Greet Players presented The Tragedy of Macbeth on Wednesday evening, April 15th, in the Little Theatre.

Perhaps the outstanding performance of the evening was given by Russell Thorndike, who played the part of Macbeth. It was a more belligerent Macbeth that Thorndike was interested in showing us than some suppose the original Macbeth to have been before he yielded to Lady Macbeth's suggestions. Nevertheless, Thorndike made his audience feel the surgings of ambition and yet the fear of consequence that Shakespeare's famous character underwent. He portrayed well the man who even after all the prophecies of the Fates had come true showed the courage to at least struggle to defy the Fates and kill Macduff.

Muriel Hutchinson's performance as Lady Macbeth was not so strong in the beginning of the play. However, she improved as the play progressed and gave an excellent performance in the scenes of Duncan's murder and at the feast in which Bangew's ghost appeared.

Sir Philip Ben Greet prefers to have the part of the ghost taken by a character rather than merely assumed. The entrance of the ghost in the banquet scene was splendidly done.

Sir Philip Ben Greet himself played three minor roles: that of Duncan, King of Scotland, that of the Porter and, finally, he took the part of the Doctor. His performance as the Porter was especially noteworthy. He was extremely

First Intercollegiate Debates to be Held

The first intercollegiate debate ever participated in by Hollins will be held immediately after chapel, Monday, April 27th, against William and Mary Freshmen. The subject will be: Resolved, that women's colleges offer a better preparation for life than do co-educational colleges. The debaters for Hollins are Kent Millsaps and Mildred Raynolds, who will uphold the affirmative of the question. The judges will be from Roanoke and Roanoke College.

A debate will be held against Randolph-Macon in Lynchburg, May 8th. The subject is: Resolved, that railroads should be owned by the Government. The speakers for Hollins will be Elizabeth Franklin and Sylvia Susseles.

Student Life regrets the error in the last issue, in regard to announcement of the Freshman Dean's List. The girls announced by Miss Williamson as having attained the 2.3 average, do not rate privileges of the Dean's List until they have maintained this average during the second semester. Thus, the girls announced were not the Freshman Dean's List.

The editorial staff of STUDENT LIFE reserves the right to withhold from publication any article which it deems necessary; also it does not assume the responsibility for the opinions expressed by contributors of signed articles.

It is but a few days until the old order changes to give place to the new, when the officers for next year replace those who have guided various organizations and classes through '30-'31. This realization brings to mind the approaching examination period and then, soon afterward, Commencement and the graduation of the Seniors. To the Freshmen it means the resumption of a life and work now grown familiar. The Sophomores probably look forward to being upper classmen and to the important academic interests arising from concentration on a major subject. To the Juniors it no doubt suggests the wearing of caps and gowns and the assumption of new and greater responsibilities.

Judging from the recent elections these responsibilities have been put into capable hands. The speeches made during the meetings and the careful consideration given them before balloting both gave proof of the thoughtful attitude of the students. Personal opinion and prejudice seem to have been little in evidence in the voting for this year. As a result, all the officers elected promise to fulfill worthily and adequately the trusts bequeathed them. But ability alone cannot insure a profitable and advantageous year. In addition is needed the stimulus of an interested and cooperative Student Body. For the successful guidance of class organization involves a partnership, a two-fold wisdom—on the part of the executives and on the part of the college as a whole. So when the new régime goes into effect, let each individual remember that her support forms an integral part of the accomplishment in the next year. And to the incoming officers—Congratulations and all success!

CHANGES

With the next issue, STUDENT LIFE will pass into the fourth set of hands which will direct its destiny. For the first time there will be no members of its original staff working and the classes that knew Hollins without it will soon be gone. In thinking over the three years that STUDENT LIFE has been a part of Hollins life we wonder if any other three years have seen so many or so radical changes? In the spring of the first year fraternities were abolished at the request of fraternity members. This seemed to start the changes, for the next fall, when we returned, the Kellar had been fixed into recreation rooms where a radio was soon installed and ping-pong sets, etc., were put up for our amusement. After Christmas, a N. S. F. A. committee was established and horseback riding was permitted for the first time in many years. From this the formation of a riding club was a natural step and this year a horse show is to be held. That spring the incoming Sophomore Class voted to do away with Senior Deference Week, a very progressive step, and the Legislative Committee announced the new social and light regulations which went into effect last fall. And last Commencement the Alumnae Council met for the first time.

This fall many things have happened if we but stop to think about them. The Dramatic Board instituted a new method of picking committees and casting plays, while the Athletic Board has introduced changes in training and sports. And, of course, smoking was granted after Christmas. The first intercollegiate debate ever participated in by Hollins will be held Monday and for the first time the Student Body rises as the Seniors come into Chapel on Sunday night. And next fall the new curriculum will go into effect. And we should not forget the Memorial Garden in back of the Library.

And so, as we who have helped to guide the destiny of STUDENT LIFE from the beginning hand it over to other eager hands, we wonder what changes the next three years of its life will witness at Hollins.

STUDENT FORUM

This is just to remind every one of the good resolutions that were made in the Student Government meeting last Tuesday concerning Kellar and the buses. These two matters are, perhaps, the most serious issues that have confronted us this year and the cooperation of every student is sadly needed. Therefore, let each of us resolve that we will not scatter ashes, papers, cigarette butts, etc., in Kellar and that we will sign up for buses, go to town if we do sign for them and return on the bus we planned. There are only six weeks left of this year and the least we can do is to try and do better in these respects.

AROUND the GLOBE

Spain has passed from a monarchy to a republican form of government with no disorder. King Alfonso XIII was forced to abdicate because of the overwhelming victory of the Spanish Republicans in the various municipal elections on April 12th. More than two-thirds of the provincial capitals are said to have chosen Republican leaders. So far, the Republic of Spain has carried on with a record of order. The status of the Communists, church and army is yet to be settled. Of course, the Communists look with longing toward a state such as Russia has. There will be freedom for all religions until the question is settled in May. The question of elections is still unsettled, but they must not permit the Socialists, Communists and various divisions of the left wing to slip so that the monarchist can make a good showing in the balloting for the national assembly. Both the press and the people have as a whole, restrained from saying uncompromising things about Alfonso. One Republican paper, however, condemned him severely and said that his claim to the throne may instigate another Civil War. All high army officials have been ordered to declare unconditional loyalty to the new régime.

Great Britain and her domains, France, Mexico, Portugal, Uruguay, Cuba, Chili, Argentina, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, Greece and Belgium have recognized the new Spanish Republic.

The Honduran rebellion which began last Saturday night is said to be under control. There are no first-class political leaders among the revolutionists except General Gregorio Ferrera who is thought to be behind it because of the fact that the leader of the first uprising has been considered Ferrera's lieutenant. Public opinion condemns the uprising and so far the rebels haven't stated a program or the reason for fighting. It is supposed that unemployment and political discontent are their only reasons.

The Icelanders are following the example set by India and are seeking their freedom from the Danish Crown. Large demonstrations have been held in front of the Danish legations and student organizations have adopted the resolution that the country become independent at the earliest possible moment.

The Sunday Movie Bill has caused quite a lot of discussion in Great Britain lately. However, the bill for the revision of the Blue Laws was passed by a vote of 258-210. It was decided that the opening of public entertainments on Sunday should be optional, but that the proceeds really ought to go for charity.

Igloo, the dog that has seen the North and South Poles is dead, due to indigestion. He was Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's pet fox terrier and the Admiral's regard for him is evident in all of his writings on his expeditions.

Vegetable ice cream may soon become the favorite dish. The American Exporter (N. Y.) states that "A Detroit confectioner has brought out ice cream with vegetable flavors, offering a combination of pea, carrot, celery, bean, spinach, orange and beet flavors. The innovation has swept Detroit. The ice cream is of the usual vanilla color, slightly tinged with vegetable juices."

The worst of the economic depression is over according to the statements of six of the leading newspaper publishers from many sections of the country. Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, the publisher of the Kansas City Kansan, said that "unemployment in the southwestern states has been materially reduced in the last sixty days." That's encouraging! Perhaps "God's in his heaven and all's right with the world" after all.

ATHLETICS

The spring sport calendar at Hollins surely offers a variety of activities and with archery, baseball, riding, swimming, tennis and track from which to choose almost everyone is interested in some sport. The week of May 4th-9th is filled with athletic events, culminating in the Monogram Club Endowment Carnival, on Saturday afternoon, May 9th.

The Odd and Even Track Meet will take place on May 4th. Eleanor Bray has been chosen as Captain of the Odds, and Anne Jones of the Evens. The track events are running high jump, running broad jump, hop, step and jump, 75-yard dash, 65-yard hurdles and relay race. The field events include the following throws: Discus, javelin, baseball and basket ball.

The Archery Tournament is to be held on May 5th and is in the form of a telegraphic meet with Randolph-Macon and Sweet Briar. There have been about fifteen people out for individual archery this spring.

On Thursday, May 7th, the Swimming Meet will be held. This year each class will have two teams, a first team of six members and a second team of five. However, the cup will be awarded on places for the first team only. The events for the first team are as follows: 40-yard free style (dash), 40-yard back crawl (dash), form, plunge far distance, 20-yard breast stroke (dash), diving and relay. Those for the second team are: 20-yard side stroke (dash), form, 20-yard tandem race, plunge far distance, diving and medley relay. Lydia Hoke has been chosen as captain of the Freshman team.

The Odd and Even Baseball will take place on Friday, May 8th. A first class game is promised.

On Saturday, May 9th, before the Carnival, the individual tennis matches will be held. The Horse Show will be run in collaboration with the Carnival. Events for this include four classes in walk, trot and canter, hurdlings, demonstration of riding without saddles and a class to judge horses. Three ribbons—blue, red and yellow—will be awarded in each class of each event. The judges will be two army officers.

In addition to being lots of fun, the innovation of deck tennis, pitching horseshoes, clock golf and ping-pong, should be of great assistance in getting rid of some of the avoirdupois collected during the year. The games will be played between dinner and chapel. After the participants have attained some degree of skill intra-murals will take place, between dormitories or between the different floors. So every one come out, instead of dieting, and uphold the honor of your dorm with deeds instead of words.

Come in the pool
For twenty-five cents,
And sleep in a cabin
Instead of in tents.

WHAT?—Carnival and Horseshow.

WHEN?—May 9th.

WHERE?—Forest of Arden.

WHY?—Endowment.

Watch for further announcements!

DR. CHAS. W. GILKEY ADDRESSES HOLLINS

Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, Dean of the University of Chicago Chapel, addressed Hollins in a series of four lectures during the week-end of March 28th. Though Dr. Gilkey's lectures were primarily on religion, they were so broad in scope that they encompassed the whole social order. The presentation of his material was done forcefully through the use of analogies. In his first lecture he used an analogy of the railroad station and the immense traffic that is carried on there. During a period of reconstruction the traffic must go on just the same. The period in which we are living, says Dr. Gilkey, is a time of reconstruction, and we must keep our moral and religious traffic going. The individual must keep on rebuilding, year after year, and if old, and usually childish beliefs are shattered, he must rebuild a broader, more stable structure. Churches and all religious organizations must do this same thing and be forever widening.

The second lecture was built on the analogy of the white oak at Athens, Georgia, which is the only tree in the world that owns itself. The self-support of the personality should grow in proportion as this tree does. It should be an ever-widening circle in regard to religion, intellectual self-support, economic self-support and sympathy, understanding and good will toward other people and races.

In his last lecture Dr. Gilkey said that religion could not be defined. It is too big a thing to be defined and is not an abstract quality, but must always be used in the particular. Religion is like friendship or affection that brings out the deepest and best in us and gathers them together like a flame. Religion sees all life and loves it.

amusing and made the scene team with the comic effect, a blatant contrast indeed to the tragic scene of the king's murder which had preceded it.

The setting of the entire play was well done, but the witch scenes were especially commendable. The costumes of the witches, the lighting and the voices of the witches, as they called forth Macbeth's and Banquo's prophecies, were such as to create a truly weird effect. The scene in which Macbeth returns to the witches after he has come into power and sees the long line of Banquo's descendants that will become kings was excellent.

The way in which the modern theatre was utilized so as to give the effect of the Elizabethan stage deserves comment. An additional drop curtain served as a distinction between the inner and outer stage of the sixteenth century for which Shakespeare wrote. In his time the outer stage served as the place where outdoor scenes might be enacted. Thus, in his interpretation of the play, Sir Philip Ben Greet utilizes this effect; for example, in the scene in which Duncan approaches Macbeth's castle.

The play was extremely well interpreted and the acting of Reginald Jarman, as Macduff, must not be passed over without favorable comment.

HOLLINS WAITERS TO GIVE PROGRAM

To-night the waiters are to give a song and dance entertainment in the Little Theatre. The admission will be twenty-five cents and half the proceeds will go to the performers, and the other half to the building of a shed for the pump at the colored school house.

Commencement Play is to be "Bonds of Interest"

Bonds of Interest, by Jacinto Buenavente, has been chosen by the Hollins Dramatic Association for the commencement play. It is a charming comedy with a colorful Spanish background and well adapted to a large cast and vivid presentation.

The action in the play makes it especially suitable to be presented before a commencement audience and the rollicking humor in it is very entertaining. The part of Culpin is the cleverest and funniest in the play and the whole plot depends mostly on him. Leande and Sylvia are the two lovers and are especially romantic in character.

The choosing of such a play as Bonds of Interest makes us look forward to the presentation of the commencement play, on the night of May 30th, with a great deal of anticipation and interest.

Women Win Collegiate Good Sleep Contest

Girls are far better sleepers than men, according to Dr. Donald Laird, "expert" on the subject of sleep and Professor of Psychology at Colgate University, where a recent sleep survey was held.

An intercollegiate good sleep contest was held between the men at Colgate and the women at Skidmore College.

Resulting figures showed that girls have less trouble going to sleep, wake up fewer times during the night, are less restless and have fewer dreams.

In addition, fewer girls have to be called twice in the morning and in general feel more peppy and less grouchy and are less foggy mentally in the morning.

Professor Laird attributes this to the theory that members of the feminine sex are neither as active physically or mentally as men.

"Only four hours may be sufficient to recuperate physically," he maintains, "but mentally, men need eight hours more to be completely rested."—(N. S. F. A.)

Opposes Participation of Women in Olympics

In consideration of the situations developing out of Olympic games, a motion was passed that the Eastern Section of the Athletic Council of American College Women go on record as opposing any competition of women in Olympics at a recent conference held in Syracuse, N. Y. This was a further support of a similar motion passed at the national convention last year. The chief objections offered to women's participation in these competitions were: specialized training of few, exploitation, physical strain, rowdiness and newspaper notoriety. The advantages, such as training, social assets, muscle coordination and mental alertness, were acknowledged.—(N. S. F. A.)

The Juniors seem to be afflicted with a lengthening of one arm. But don't worry about them—it's just that their rings are weighing them down. (This isn't an April Fool joke either.)

From the recent prevalence of white linen suits it would seem that the campus is going in for purity, and "White Sisterhood."

Of late the Sophomores have cast covetous eyes on all flower gardens. Could the approach of May Day and thoughts of May baskets be responsible?

For the confirmed milk drinkers, life has become one perpetual garlic feast—to those whose taste for onions is as yet uncultivated it is tragic that the cows have such a penchant for them.

A delightful new game "Battleship Chess" seems to have achieved supremacy over the once so popular "Mich." Learn how to play and see why—or ask one of the addicts—they're all enthusiastic.

Sweet flowers, apple blossoms, the put-put of the lawn mower—Here's a vote of thanks to Nature for bringing Spring.

The riders have become civilized again and are returning to the solid comfort of a saddle. What a blessing to those who have been riding boney horses!

Who would have thought that in three weeks time a mere sore throat should achieve terrifying proportions? And the reason?—the apprehensive suspect scarlet fever germs.

Anyone interested in the hospitals, orphanages, taxi drivers, or views in the vicinity of Cincinnati should consult Jessie Pollard or Mary Alice McConnel, both authorities on the subject. They are also connoisseurs of Mexican banquets, and fish food.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet for 1931-32 is Installed

At Convocation Wednesday night, April 22d, the first transference of power was made from the officers of an association for this year to the officers for the coming year. This association was the Y. W. C. A. and the outward sign of change was the giving of a candle from each old officer to her successor.

Miss Elizabeth Triplett, President of the Y. W. C. A. for 1930-31, first read the aim of the association and then entrusted the new officers with their duties and asked the loyalty of all members to them. The exchange of candles was then made and Miss Betsy Rice, the President for 1931-32, gave a prayer for protection and guidance. The meeting ended with the recessional, Follow the Glean.

The faculty of the University of Rochester recently voted to do away with all eight o'clock classes, having decided it was better for the students to sleep in their own rooms instead of the class rooms.
